

SCHOOL WILL BE HELD FOR H. S. COACHES

Al Baggett Announces a Strong Staff for Week of Instruction June 3rd to 10th

HEADED BY BIBLE

T. C. U., Arkansas and Rice Coaches Will Be on Staff—Low Fees For the Course

The First Annual Coaching School to be held at W. T. was announced Friday by Coach Al Baggett to be held June 3rd to 10th. The announcement attracted the attention of hundreds of teachers who were here for the Conference on Education. From every indication the Coaching School will attract many high school coaches for the summer session.

Football, basketball, and organization and administration of athletics will be featured during the course.

Coach Baggett has a letter from D. X. Bible of the University of Nebraska giving assurance that he will probably accept the leadership in giving instruction in single wing back and punt formation. Coach Bible is one of the outstanding coaches of the middle west, and was formerly at A. & M. College. Leo (Dutch) Meyer of T. C. U. will instruct in single and double wing back. As coach of the famous T. C. U. team, winner of the Sugar Bowl game at New Orleans, Mr. Meyer has won national distinction.

Raymond (Bear) Wolf, line coach of T. C. U., will give instruction on line play.

Blair Cherry of the Amarillo Sandies will bring his entire 1935 State Championship team for demonstration.

Coach Baggett, Marshall May and Bob Cox will assist the visiting coaches.

Glen Rose of the University of Arkansas will instruct in basketball. His team won the championship of the Southwestern Conference the past season.

"Chuck" Taylor, trick shot and pass artist and star college and professional basketball player will assist in basketball.

Five great W. T. players will demonstrate in basketball; Joe Fortenberry, George Ray Colvin, Willie Boedeker, Ray Shackelford, and Ben Arthur.

Dr. Harry Scott, director of Physical Education of Rice Institute, will direct the discussion of organization and administration of athletics.

Three hours credit on Physical Education will be given those taking the course. The fee for the coaching school alone will be $15; if the student attends the first six weeks, the fee is $10; if enrolled for the twelve weeks the fee will be $5. Room and board will be furnished during the course for $10.

Palo Duro Park Is Popular As Warmer Weather Has Begun

The popularity of the Palo Duro State Park as a recreation place for Sunday was demonstrated Sunday when 175 car loads of people spent the day at the Park. The total attendance last week was 250 cars.

Contributing towns were: Amarillo 73 cars; Canyon 22; Pampa 12; Tulla 7; Dalhart, Plainview and Dallas 6 each; Lubbock, Perryton, Borger, Austin, 5 each. 40 cars came from states outside of Texas.

The cabins are now furnished with new furniture, new beds, springs and mattresses. New oil stoves will be installed within a few days. There has been an increasing demand for cabins during the winter, but the lack of furniture made it impossible to fill all the needs. With the opening of spring traffic, it is expected that the cabins will be in demand every week.

GUEST SPEAKER

Miss Ruth Anderson of Shamrock was guest speaker at the Presbyterian Church services Sunday morning. Miss Anderson is home on furlow from her Missionary work in Brazil where she has been during the past five years.

Truck Load Liquor Seized Monday Nite

Sheriff Bob Barnett Is Custodian of Haul Made By State Inspectors on Monday

Sheriff Bob Barnett is custodian of a truck load of liquor valued at approximately $1800 which was seized Monday night by investigators of the Texas Liquor Control Commission. The liquor will be sold at public auction in ten days, and any holder of a permit under the Liquor Commission may bid on the lot.

The liquor was shipped by truck out of Amarillo and was on its way to Clovis. Owners of the liquor claimed they had a permit from the state department, but developments seem to show that they overlooked the matter of placing liquor stamps on the cases before starting the shipment across country.

The truck was stopped south of Amarillo by two investigators and two highway patrolmen, the driver being escorted to Canyon.

Two charges were filed against the driver: first, operating a truck which was overloaded; second, for possession of unstamped liquor.

The owners of the truck paid a fine of $50 and costs under the first charge; and $10 and costs under the second charge.

This shipment of liquor is the first that has been seized in Randall county under the new law. The investigators have no legal rights to arrest those who break the liquor law, but call in the regular officers. In this instance they called upon the highway patrolmen who were in the north part of the county at the time. But the seized liquor is then turned over to the sheriff in whose county the liquor is seized for safe-keeping and sale.

Notices will be posted today by Sheriff Bob Barnett for the sale of the liquor. The sale may be held after 10 days notice. The Liquor Control Commission is notified by the Sheriff who the bidders are. If the bidder and the price are satisfactory to the Commission, the sale will be concluded within five days. Before the liquor may be moved, the new owner must stamp each bottle with the Texas revenue stamps. The liquor money goes to Austin and will be deposited in the state treasury to the credit of the Old Age Assistance fund.

This is the first case of liquor violation under the new law which has been handled in Randall county. Under this law the sheriff is made responsible for concluding the case after the investigators file charges, thus throwing all of the responsibility upon the local officers who receive no additional pay for the expense and responsibilities to which they are placed.

M. L. Tucker Is Buried Yesterday at Clarendon

M. L. Tucker died Tuesday morning at 7:30 o'clock at Clarendon. Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at the Methodist Church of that city.

Mr. Tucker had lived in Canyon and Randall County for 21 years, and during the past two years had been making his home with his daughter, Mrs. Albert Reed of Ashtola. He would have been 85 years of age in April.

He is survived by one brother, Wesley Tucker of Oklahoma City; four daughters and three sons. They are Mrs. Albert Reed, Ashtola; Mrs. T. W. Duffie, Eldorado, Okla.; Miss Viola Tucker, Fort Worth, and Miss Eula Tucker of Gallup, N. M.; W. E. Tucker of Canyon, L. D. of Ashtola, and J. W. Tucker of Olton, and seventeen grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Tucker and family attended the services yesterday.

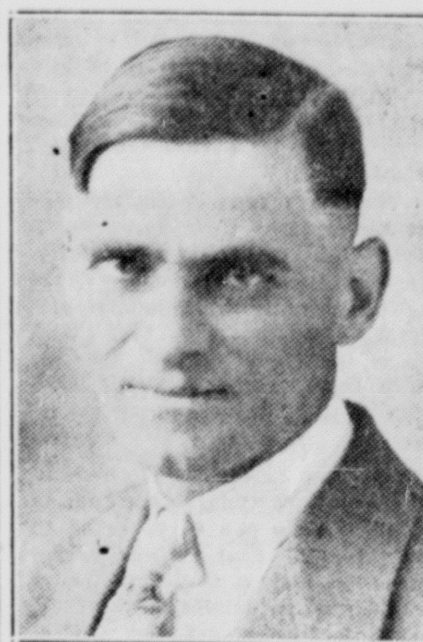

WATCH TESTING MACHINE ATTRACTS MUCH ATTENTION

The tick of a watch sounds like the explosion of a gasoline engine through the loud speaker of a Paulson Time Micrometer which was demonstrated yesterday by E. Burroughs. A large crowd gathered to see the new electric device which tells the exact gain or loss of time in any watch.

Mr. Burroughs bought the machine for use in his jewelry store, and gave the demonstration yesterday.

Mrs. I. W. Scott was brought home from Amarillo Friday. She is convalescing from an operation.

O. W. Gano Named Investigator For Age Assistance

O. W. GANO

O. W. Gano was appointed district inspector for the Texas Old Age Assistance Commission and is working in Randall county this week checking the applications which have been filed.

Mr. Gano states that the public has been calling this the old age pension, but the object under the law is assistance to aged who are needy.

After the applications have been filled out and mailed to the district office at Amarillo, the papers are checked to see that everything is in order. If mistakes are found, they are returned to the applicant for correction. If the applications are in correct form, they are then turned over to the investigator, who must make a personal interview.

Three things are very essential on the applications: evidence of the date of birth; evidence of the length of residence in the state; and evidence of citizenship, if the applicant is naturalized. This district is composed of 20 counties, and investigators were started to work Thursday. Mr. Gano requested to be assigned to Randall county since he knows the people and believes that he can close up the investigations more quickly than a stranger.

Old age assistance cannot be paid before the first of July under the law, but the records are being checked as rapidly as possible in order that the district may certify to Austin all who are found eligible for assistance under the law.

3000 TEACHERS ATTEND THIRD CONFERENCE

Best Conference In This Section Held at W. T. on Friday and Saturday

SCHOOLS DISMISS

Noted Speakers Bring Messages to Teachers on Plains—Interest Is Unusual

Beginning at 9 o'clock Friday morning, the third annual Conference for Education in the Panhandle brought record-breaking crowds to the campus of W. T. for the two-day meeting. Before the close of the first general session, the huge auditorium of the Administration Building overflowed and provision was made for the lecturers to be heard, by means of loud-speakers, in the auditorium of the Education Building. An estimated 3,000 persons attended the Conference on Friday. Most of the schools in the Panhandle were dismissed on that day to enable teachers to attend the conference.

Speaking during the morning session were: Dr. Frank W. Hart, Professor of Education, University of California, Berkeley; Willard W. Beatty, United States Director of Indian Education and formerly president of the Progressive Education Association; Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Technological College, Lubbock; and Dr. J. A. Hill, president of W. T.

Teaching a Profession In his speech, "Is Teaching a Profession?" Dr. Hart first defined a profession. He compared teachers to doctors and lawyers in the matter of giving their services to society without receiving adequate remuneration for these services.

"One thing keeps us from being members of a profession in the true sense of the term. That is the lack of a code of ethics with teeth in it so as to prevent unscrupulous members from competing among themselves, in groups, and other practices resorted to in order to secure positions," the speaker said. "Finally, the most crucial defect in our ranks as a profession is the fact that we may be discharged from our jobs without a trial by our professional peers. Laymen who are members of school boards have that right," stated Hart. He went ahead to quote H. L. Mencken as saying that journalism could never be a profession as long as a journalist may be hired and fired by a business manager instead of by the editor.

Miss Malone states that a complete invoice of the library is being made in order to determine the condition of the present books, and the needs of the future. She has resigned as librarian effective April 1st, and Mrs. S. D. Burton has been named by the library board to succeed Miss Malone.

FLOWERS TO JOHN McCARTY

John L. McCarty is due the congratulations of thousands of friends over the Plains of Texas, and especially those living in Canyon who have known him for so many years. John has scaled the ladder of newspaperdom in the Panhandle area, starting from scratch and landing in the place of second in command of the biggest newspaper in Northwest Texas.

Announcement was made Friday that following the death of Wilbur C. Hawk, Gene Howe had been elected president and publisher, Mr. McCarty editor and associate publisher, and Norris Ewing general manager of the Amarillo News-Globe Publishing Company.

Those in Canyon who have watched John climb the ladder so rapidly felt a swell of pride when they read the announcement Friday morning.

John L. McCarty became a student in W. T. when conditions were about as hard as they ever have been on the Plains. About all he had to offer was a powerful physique driven by an unquenchable will to win. He lived on chili and hamburgers, doing anything that he could find to do, and when there was nothing in the way of a job, John simply went out and created an opportunity for work.

During the publication of a special edition which The News was issuing, John applied for a job to write some feature articles. His first article showed a willingness to work, and a keen insight into the things that the public wished to read. This was the beginning of a friendship which has grown year by year between John McCarty and the publisher of The News.

When the Amarillo Globe was organized, John was given a job. His ability, his unbounding desire to work soon attracted the attention of the newspaper force. He kept a typewriter in his home, and while not at the office on newspaper duty, John was pounding out stories and articles, some as special features for his paper, and others which he succeeded in selling to magazines.

John discovered that the Dalhart Texan was for sale. In talking over the matter with this publisher, he was advised to make the venture. The story of his success reads like a fairy story. The Texan was enlarged from a weekly to a semi-weekly, and then took the big jump into the daily field at a time when no one with less energy and nerve would have attempted such an expansion. The Daily Texan has won many national prizes and is one of the best known small town dailies in this nation—because of the driving forces of John L. McCarty.

Wider fields of activities are open to Mr. McCarty in his new position. His friends are betting that the results will be the same in his favor for the future as they have in the past.

Perhaps most Americans caught their breath Sunday morning when confronted with the head lines that Germany was mobilizing troops on the Rhine. We have been told for months that another war was brewing. That Germany should seemingly be willing to take the first definite steps toward a policy of aggression seems almost impossible. Perhaps Germany is moved in this direction, not so much by a desire to start another conflict, as she is by the preparations which she sees being made all around her. No matter what the motive may be, the fact remains that the armies of Germany and France are again facing each other. A mis-step might start the war any minute. Perhaps the memory of 22 years ago has been blotted out, and the nations are again willing to sacrifice millions more of men on the altar of war. Throughout this nation there is an insistent demand that the United States leave the coming European squabble to those who wish to start it. This nation bought plenty of experience in the last world war, and should not be drawn into the next war. Whether we can stay out is another problem. Every force that can possibly be exerted on this nation will be used to force us into the conflict. Europe will be glad to make a sap of this nation once more, allowing us to finance another war.

The world market of this nation has been very largely taken away by competing nations. That is the reason the depression has hung on so long, according to economists. The problem seems to be getting around to a readjustment of the entire American standard of living. No nation has such high standards as has this nation. But to regain the world market, the standard cannot be maintained and produce articles at such low prices that the markets may be recaptured. It has been pretty definitely established that this nation cannot live within itself. A readjustment of wages, living conditions, rents and interest would be a hard blow to each and every citizen. But such a readjustment may come quicker than most of us realize.

Eight candidates are now running for Governor of Texas. Three have assumed an active roll against Governor Allred, who has so far devoted his time to getting the people of the state thinking about the Centennial. The fireworks have started earlier than usual. That Allred will conduct an active campaign and will not overlook any opportunity may be taken for granted, judging by his aggressiveness in past campaigns. There will be plenty doing in Texas this year.

The wheat prospects in the Panhandle are fine, much better than last year when dust storms ruled this section. Moisture must be had very, very soon, but conditions are most favorable for this time of the year.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Administration of Relief Funds
Becomes Main Campaign Issue

BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON.—Eight months before election, the biggest issue of the presidential campaign is relief—with its close relation to budget balancing, taxation, continued unemployment, and recovery. The Constitution issue, the dictatorship and regimentation issues, and the "Socialistic" issue have, for the time being at least, begun to fade.

Republicans already are hammering away at the administration of relief. They charge that it is inefficient, extravagant, and riddled with politics.

Young Senator Rush Holt of West Virginia (a Democrat, by the way) asserts that the WPA program in his state is being used to build up a personal political machine. Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, G. O. P. presidential candidate, accuses the administration of wrecking the relief program by "confusion, contradiction, delay, and miserable party politics." Senator Arthur Vandenberg says he has proof that relief clients in Pennsylvania are being assessed for political contributions by local Democratic organizations. You will be hearing many more stories like these between now and election.

THE natural tendency of politicians, when their party is in power, to use funds at their command for partisan purposes easily might turn the four billion dollar relief appropriation into a boomerang for the national administration.

Along with the attack on relief waste, Republican leaders are denouncing the unbalanced federal budget. Much is being said about the alleged broken campaign pledges of the 1932 Democratic platform, especially the one promising a 25 per cent reduction in cost of federal government.

Postmaster General Farley has replied to the broken promise charge. He says that the voters approved the continued expenditures when, in 1934, they re-elected many representatives and senators who had voted to override the presidential veto of bills restoring the 25 per cent cut in normal government expenses made just after Roosevelt took office.

The main Democratic strategy at the present time, however, is based on returning prosperity. Democratic spokesmen, and the president himself, frequently contrast conditions in 1933 with those today. They cite business improvement and bettered position of the farmer.

MR. ROOSEVELT is making efforts to appear as a budget-balancer. He can be expected to try to show that rising federal revenues and a declining relief load, due to business improvement, will wipe out the annual deficit. He also is determined to force Congress to provide additional taxes to pay for any extra appropriations.

The Democratic leadership also will rely heavily on the positive legislative reforms put on the books. The Social Security Act, insurance of bank deposits, regulation of the stock exchange, the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, the Wagner Labor Relations Act and the Guffey Coal Act, will be used as bids for a vote of confidence.

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Creomulsion not only contains the soothing elements common to many remedies; such as, Syrup of White Pine Compound with Tar, fluid extract of Licorice Root, fluid extract of Wild Cherry and Menthol, but also has fluid extract of Ipecac for its powerful phlegm loosening effect, fluid extract of Cascara for its mild laxative effect and, most important of all, Beechwood Creosote is perfectly blended with all of these to reach the source of the trouble from the inside. Creomulsion is taken frequently and continuously by adults and children with remarkable results.

Thousands of doctors use Creomulsion in their own families as well as in their practice knowing how Creomulsion aids nature to soothe the inflamed membranes and heal the irritated tissues as the germ-laden phlegm is loosened and expelled. Don't worry through another sleepless night—phone or go get a bottle of Creomulsion right now. (Adv.)

PLAN!

The good things of life—however much we would like to believe it—do not come as unforeseen gifts from providence. Alas, we all have to learn there is not a pot of gold at the end of the rainbow—Fairy Godmothers have long been extinct—the story of King Midas was only a myth. Today we realize we have to plan ahead—and then stick to our plan—to secure for ourselves and our families the first necessities—shelter, food, clothes, and then the luxuries—cars, travel, country life—we want them to have.

So remember when you start on a plan of saving to come to your bank first—for you will find it a wise counselor, faithful friend, and understanding confidant.

Bufs To Leave For AAU Cage Meet Next Week

Boedeker, Colvin, And Clement Playing
Last Time

Another successful cage season will draw to a finish next week when Coach Al Baggett and his Buffaloes participate in the National A. A. U. Tournament, March 15 to 21.

This is the fourth time that a West Texas team has been invited to the National Tournament—the cream of the nation's cage meets. Regardless of the strong odds against bringing home any meals, the Buffaloes will derive much benefit from viewing the game among the best.

The Southern Kansas Stage Line will be the defending national champions, and the runners-up, the Globe Refiners featuring Joe Fortenberry, former Buff prodigy, will be vying for the honors.

Three of the basketballers will be representing the Maroon and White for the last time. This trio is Captain Willie Boedeker, George Ray Colvin, and Curtis Clement. Since his freshman days, Captain Boedeker has developed into a valuable ball hawk. In earning his last letter, he has proved himself a capable leader for the Bison Herd.

George Ray Colvin is one of the immortals of W. T. basketball. His return to school after tramping around with the amateur leagues for a couple of seasons augmented the strength of the team immeasurably. Colvin's enviable record has made him a marked man all year, but he has managed to maintain it in grand style by leading the scoring.

Curtis Clement's unceasing hustle will mark him as a great fighter, a dependable man, and a lover of the game. He has earned three letters. His uncanny eye for the hoop with either hand places him as a contender for the scoring crown. Coach Baggett will lose a good man.

Dallas Must Be Biting Her Nails As Rose Raves on

NEW YORK, March 10.—Billy Rose looked forward to a $100,000 job today and planned a Texas Frontier Centennial exposition at Fort Worth that "will make 'Jumbo' look like a peep-show."

Rose, creator of "Jumbo," the mammoth indoor circus that packed New York's remodeled Hippodrome all winter, said that he had signed a contract to manage the exposition at $1,000 a day for 100 days and would leave here Wednesday to take over.

A three-ring circus, a livestock show, a frontier city, and a swimming pool 100 yards square is just the start of Rose's layout.

"I'll get Shirley Temple, Mae West, Guy Lombardo, Jack Benny. I'll get 1,000 beautiful girls for the Frontier Follies. I'll have a Texas pageant to be called 'The Fall of the Alamo,' or 'The Battle of San Jacinto' or some other Texas name."

"And," he said, "I'll have 2,000 Indians and 1,000 cowboys—and guess who wins."

Long Distance Rates REDUCED Sixth Time

1. AFTER 7 EVERY NIGHT

person-to-person long distance charges are now lower, except on some shorter calls.

2. ALL DAY SUNDAY

long distance rates are reduced on both person-to-person and station-to-station calls.

These reductions apply on calls to points more than 100 miles distant, and to many shorter calls. In the past the only reductions were those after 7 at night on station-to-station calls. This is the sixth time in 10 years that the telephone company has lowered long distance charges. Other reductions were made in 1926, 1927, 1929, 1930, and 1935.

Ask Long Distance for the new rates to any point.

Wal, kids, it looks like intramurals are causin a lot uv excitement. I heard old sports editor Jennings say he sure thought those seventh graders were gonna take off girls intramural honors this year.

Wonder what people would have thought if they could have passed along the Happy highway about 12:30 Saturday night and seen Coach (Alton) Brown and six uv his Egglettes pushin' ole Super-Cleve, Coach Jones' car, down the highway. When I first heard that I shore thought we had a scandal up. I shore was relieved when I found that they were just on their way back from the State A. A. U. Meet at Plainview and the car automatically stopped.

Betty Ruth Solomon sed for me not to put her name in the paper, so I guess I won't tell what I know on her.

Say, thet Kate Donnell shore is a heart-breaker from what I hear. I heard she told some boys from Plainview that she wuz in college and wuz taken Chemistry. Kate, I thought ye were suppos' to be up on this honesty stuff.

Sis, who wuz your visitors from McLean? Charles and Larry don't sound like girls names to me.

Well, them new senior rings shore are purty! I wish I had one.

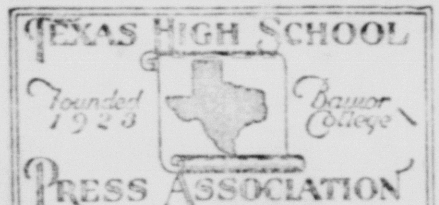

Jack, that shore wuz a cute blonde-headed college freshman you an Kenneth were with last Sunday night.

Congratulations, Mary Ella, fer being chosen most valuable basketball player for '35!

The seniors shore made a discovery on that picnic Thursday night. They learned that Gertrude Brandt had missed her calling and should have been training for opera. She really has a good be-ginning.

Wal, I gotta go watch intramurals, so ye kids be good!

HEROES ARE MADE,
NOT BORN

March has contributed its share of great Texans. We are reminded of this fact by the birthday anniversaries of Sam Houston, and the fall of the Alamo where Travis, Crockett, Bowie and others lost their lives. In thinking of these, we naturally think in terms of heroes, and most of us wish we might be heroes ourselves.

No one will ever know how many have wished to match their own experiences to Sam Houston's leading the Texas army against Mexico. Too often small acts of heroism do not receive public notice, and people fail to realize there are as many women heroes as men. Mrs. Dickinson, the woman heroine of the Alamo was one woman who received public acclaim.

Too many of us think that we must wait for some unusual experience before we can prove ourselves heroes. Almost all of us are called upon at some time to be heroic, even though we may not be noticed by the world.

Decision to stand out against the crowd, because of self determination, to live up to personal ideals, and moral standards is nothing short of heroism.

In other words, heroes are all around us, and we may and should possess some qualities of a hero.

Seniors Journey
To Canyons Thurs.

After sitting on the high school steps for an hour and a half without any means of transportation, the seniors finally hailed the school bus, driven by Jim Upfold, at 5:30 o'clock and went to the canyons on a picnic.

On arriving in the canyons, a campfire was made, and the group played "Capture the Flag" planting a flag on each side of the canyon ravine, and using the creek as the boundary. At the close of the game, a hearty appetite had been aroused, and the group sat down to a large supper of sandwiches, punch, cookies, apples, oranges, bananas, and marshmallows. When they turned away unable to consume all the food before them, they gathered around the fire and an amateur contest was held. The performances varied from singing to turning flips over the fire and standing on the head.

When the fire had burned low and the group was gathered in perfect quietness roasting marsh-

Session

Supt. I. B. Carruth was elected president of the Northwest Texas Conference for Education for the year 1936-37 at the regular meeting in the Administration Building of West Texas State Teachers College last Saturday morning. The conference met last Friday and Saturday.

School was dismissed Friday to allow the faculty members to attend the conference.

Mr. Carruth presided at the 10:30 o'clock session, and Miss Elva Fronabarger, elementary school principal, was chairman of both special elementary sessions Friday afternoon.

Willard W. Beatty, ex-superintendent of schools, Bronxville, N. Y., and president of the Progressive Education Association, and Head of the United State Indian Education, and Frank W. Hart, professor of Education, University of California, Berkeley, were principal speakers. D. M. Wiggins, President of Texas School of Mines and Metallurgy, El Paso, also appeared on the program several times.

Other speakers were: L. A. Woods, State Superintendent; Bradford Knapp, President of Texas Technological College, and J. D. Wilson, Deputy State Superintendent of District 1.

W. B. Irvin, Superintendent of Perryton High School, and President of the Conference, presided.

Ford Fronabarger
Talks to P. T. A. on
"Magazine Reading"

Dr. B. F. Fronabarger spoke to the Parent-Teachers Association last Tuesday night in the high school auditorium on "Magazines and Newspapers."

In the introduction of the speech, he said, "This is not an age of books and book-readers, and we cannot make yesterday return with its reverence for books and printed matter. We can give guidance in this day of 'magazines and newspapers,' which are read by many and looked at by all," said Dr. Fronabarger, "and a summary of the magazines and newspaper field certainly must come into its place in our schools."

According to the American Newspaper Annual and Directory, there are 2272 daily newspapers published in the United States, and 12963 papers are published weekly, as well as 3,653 printed monthly.

The "Tatter" the first newspaper was published by Steele in 1709, and followed by the "Spectator" in 1711 by Addison. Magazines were used in 1731. This was the "Gentleman's Magazine." The real origin of the magazine originated in 1665 in France. The first magazine in America was the "American Magazine" edited by Andrew Bradford in 1741. Three days later Benjamin Franklin started the "Gentleman's Magazine." Both of these magazines died out soon. Before 1800, 45 other magazines were born, but most of them died early.

Most of the early writing was not paid for. Boston was the first center of literary culture and publishing place of best early magazines. The greatest contribution of Boston was the "Atlantic Monthly" started in 1857 by Lowell, Longfellow, Holmes, and Emerson. The Harper's magazine soon followed the Atlantic Monthly. This was followed by Scribners after the Civil War. The Scribners was the first magazine to use advertising. The most recent literary magazine is the "Saturday Review of Literature," started in 1924.

Dr. Fronabarger used the following as an example of a title sheet of a good magazine: A monthly museum of Knowledge and Rational Entertainment, containing Poetry, Biography, History, Physics, Geography, Morality, Criticism, Philosophy, Mathematics, Agriculture, Architecture, Chemistry, Tales, Romances, Translations, News, Marriages and Deaths.

CONDON TALKS ON HOBBIES IN
ASSEMBLY WED.CONDON PRESENTS EXAMPLE OF MODERN HOBBIES
IN PRACTICE

Mr. S. H. Condon, Government Teacher in W. T. S. T. C., spoke to the high school assembly yesterday on the subject of "Hobbies."

Mr. Condon pointed out the need for hobbies, since modern industry makes shorter working days; hence more leisure time.

"If an evening at home bores you, it is time to take an inventory of yourself," said Mr. Condon.

Mr. Condon gave examples of modern people and their hobbies. The Prince of Wales, now King of England, enjoys his leisure hours by knitting. Will Chamberlain, Clarendon farmer, spends his leisure as an archaeologist, while Mr. Condon's own hobby is fishing.

Mr. Condon said, "With the many different fields of hobbies, music in many forms, writing, painting, and the many different manual arts, it should not be hard for a person to choose at least two hobbies, so as to have a hobby for every season of the year—winter, spring, summer, and fall."

"Hobbies are usually discovered accidentally," said Mr. Condon. "It is wise to have a wide range of interests, and the hobbies that one chooses should furnish enjoyment, pleasure, and gratification," said Mr. Condon.

He also said, "That with the strain of modern life, hobbies mean fewer nervous breakdowns and suicides."

Freshmen Sail to
"Treasure Island"

"Oh look at the gold." This is what the Freshmen have been saying this week, while reading the interesting book "Treasure Island."

The members of the class have been studying this story in class, and they seem to be enjoying it better than any other story they have studied this year.

The members of the class are going to work on projects concerning this story. They can draw maps of Treasure Island, construct Hispanola, Admiral Benbow's block house, draw a poster with a drawing of any one of the characters, make a poster of Silver's green parrot with his well-known words, make a poster of the apple barrel scene, list quotations with author of each, make dialogue for the scene, name chief characters with short descriptions of each, or write a theme or playlet on the entire story. These projects will be in Friday.

P.T.A. Study Club
Will Meet Today

The Parent-Teachers Association will meet this afternoon from 3 to 4 o'clock in the grade school music room. Mrs. Ray Campbell will be in charge of the discussion, "Parents and Teachers Need Each Other."

Information on the Parent-Teachers Association will be given by one of the officers.

"The mothers who have been attending the study club feel that they have been benefited by it, and other mothers are cordially invited to attend," said Mrs. D. A. Nicholas, chairman.

We've also noticed that the man who sings about his own praises seldom gets an encore.

Teams Debate; Rings Return

Both the boys and girls debate teams and those who are coming out for declamation will go to the Amarillo Speech Tournament Saturday. Those who are coming out for declamation are: James Pope, Marielle Oldham, Martha Carlee Wirt, and Mary Charlotte Word. Mother of Scott
Downing Succumbs
Early Wednesday

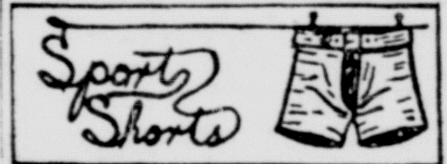

Mrs. S. M. Downing, mother of Scott Downing, junior, died last Wednesday morning at 4:15 o'clock after several months of illness. Mrs. Downing was 59 years of age. Mr. Scott Downing, Sr., died last April.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at 4 o'clock, at the Methodist church. The services were conducted by Rev. J. O. Quattlebaum.

Pall bearers were M. H. Rockwell, J. M. Craig, J. H. Lisle, M. O. Slack, Oscar Hunt, and W. G. Rose. Surviving Mrs. Downing are: John of Augustine, N. M., Scott Jr., Neil, Marion, and Jack, all of Canyon, and daughters, Mrs. Henry Herman of Spokane, Wash., Mrs. James Williams, Mrs. Creed Thorp, and Mrs. Thomas Elliston, all of Canyon.

Mrs. Downing's three sisters are Mrs. Hazel Burton, Kansas City; Mrs. Cleo Roseau of Kansas City; and Mrs. Virginia Wilson of Des Moines, Iowa. Her brother, Ward Hunt is in Pleasant, Ark.

Mrs. Downing was born Sept. 30, 1877. She was married in 1894. From the years of her life she spent 28 successfully in Canyon.

I hear that M. E. Bagwell, who was a member of Canyon High School in 1934 and played on the Egglettes basketball team, made All-State Guard in girls' basketball. She played basketball this year for Panhandle High School. She was named as one of the first 12 best players at the A. A. U. tournament Saturday. Tough luck to lose an "All State" basketballer. She should have played for the purple and white.

Intramurals have started and the first two games were played Monday. All five teams seem to be the favorites at the present although the juniors and seniors won Monday.

Marbles is the favorite game at present, from the first grade to ex-students. The best marble ground is across the street from the grade school. Boys like to play marbles to the extent of playing by the light of the moon. Some seniors played marbles at night on their picnic last Thursday night.

I hear that the board of superintendents and coaches of District 1 met last Friday. I tried to get all the business of the business session, but couldn't find out much, although I found out that C. H. Dillehay was re-elected president and that a new plan was proposed and voted upon. The plan, unanimously adopted, was: That all high schools in District 1, Class B, would award only one letter sweater for athletic achievement in four years of high school. The letter sweater would be awarded the first time a student lettered; so, the student may obtain full benefit of the sweater while in high school. The superintendents and coaches seem to like the idea, so I guess it is a good one.

Students Examine
Printing of Paper

Arriving at the Canyon News office at 9 o'clock last Thursday by way of the school bus, members of the Journalism class saw for the first time just how The Eagle's Tale was printed, set up, run off, and folded, ready to be sent to the subscribers.

First the students witnessed the locking of the type in a frame ready to be run off on paper.

Mr. Warwick showed the class the paper cutting, perforating, stapling and booklet machines, and explained the making of commercial cuts from the mold sent from companies.

Leaving a few minutes before 10 o'clock, the class returned in time for their 10 o'clock classes.

MANTELL IS STAR

Admission of 15 and 25c
Charged; Contributions
Accepted For Suits

The great renowned Cal Farley and his Flying Dutchman Circus is coming to Canyon High School Tuesday at 8 o'clock, sponsored by the Parent-Teachers Association.

You have heard of "Dutch" Mantell; now see him. "Dutch" is the star performer of this Circus of 25 entertainers.

This is Cal Farley's first appearance at Canyon High School with his circus although he has given programs in many Panhandle towns. The program will continue through two and a half hours filled with fun and frolic of all kinds. There will be music, jokes, and wrestling bouts arranged by the mighty "Dutch" Mantell.

Cal Farley is known not only for his Flying Dutchman Circus and his wrestling ability, but his radio announcing of wrestling matches. You have heard him; so don't miss your chance to see Cal Farley in his favorite role, an excited, enthusiastic touselled-headed announcer.

Total proceeds of this evening of entertainment will go to the P. T. A. to buy more uniforms for the Canyon Public School band, since Mr. Farley does not receive remuneration for his performances. At present the band has only one-half enough uniforms for its 43 members. The band is progressing rapidly, and by next year will be a band of which Canyon will be proud.

Admission of 15 cents to grade students, 25 cents to high school students, and 35 cents for reserved ring-side seats will be charged. Tickets may be bought from band members, mothers of band members, and mothers in the P. T. A.

Talks and Picnic
Fill Hi-Y's Week of Active Work

Instead of shouting like his patriotic namesake, Patrick Henry, Jr., District Secretary of the Hi-Y Clubs gave an informal inspirational speech to 20 Hi-Y boys, including six W. T. Hi-Y members, last Monday afternoon in the high school auditorium.

Mr. Henry discussed plans for the conference of the Hi-Y clubs that will meet in Amarillo April 3, 4, and 5. The local Hi-Y Club expects to send at least 10 delegates to the conference.

The conference theme, "Christian Use of Leisure Time," will be discussed by Dr. C. A. Elliot, Fort Worth; Bud Thompson, Lubbock; and Dr. R. C. Snodgrass, of Amarillo.

Coach L. T. Barksdale of W. T. high school was the guest speaker of the March 2 meeting.

"Why I chose coaching as a profession," was his subject. Melvin Callihan gave a brief talk on "Why I chose to be an athlete."

Members of the Hi-Y Club spent Monday evening in the Palo Duro Canyons on a hamburger fry.

Intramural Girls
Begin Practice Mon.

The girls intramural basketball teams began practice last Monday, and the tournament will begin the first of next week.

In a meeting of the intramural basketball girls March 3, the following coaches were chosen: seniors, Mary Ella Davis; juniors, Mary Collins; sophomores, Wanda Brock; freshmen, Edrie McNeill; seventh grade, Billy Greenfield.

Much enthusiasm has been shown toward intramurals, with the sophomores and seventh grade picked as strongest contenders for the trophy.

• Baking—The first requisite of proper baking is good circulation of heat. The Electromaster design cares for this in an economical manner.

• Broiling—Only tender cuts of meat should be broiled. Set your oven control at 500 degrees and preheat five minutes. Nothing is superior in cooking.

• Roasting—One of the important advantages of roasting electrically is the uniformity of cooking. Even any necessity for searing meats is eliminated.

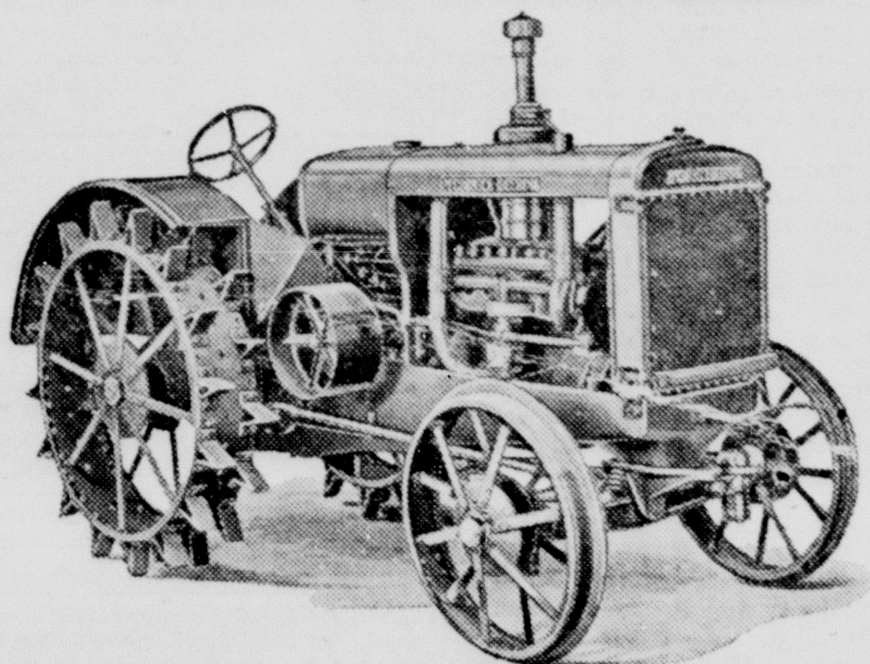

See the Electromaster K-60. Complete in every detail, $139.50 installed ($10.00 deductible if without timer). Your old range accepted as liberal down payment.

Texas Constitutions Are Discussed Tuesday by S. H. Condron

The constitutions of Texas, past, present and future were discussed Tuesday at the Rotary Club luncheon by Prof. S. H. Condron. Wes Kleinschmidt was chairman of the program for the day, introducing the speaker.

Mr. Condron outlined the nine constitutions under which the state has existed, giving the outstanding features of each. The need of a new constitution to meet the future needs was stressed, and attention was called to the constitutional amendment to be voted upon in November paving the way for a constitutional convention. Throughout all this period, there was shown to be a fear of government, and a popular demand that the powers of government be limited.

In 1812 this territory was under Spain, but since there were few people in Texas, little attention was paid to constitutional government.

In 1824 Mexico ruled this territory, the nation comprising all territory to California and as far south as Mexico wished to claim.

In 1827 Mexico set up various states in the territory, and the section which is now Texas had its capitol many miles down in Mexico.

The revolution came in 1836, and Texas was made a Republic, modeling its constitution after that of the United States. However, the people voted directly for president, and most of the officials were appointed by the president.

The constitution of 1845 when Texas entered the Union, is called the best one ever written for the state. Most of the officials were appointed, and were responsible to the governor. There was harmony, instead of friction between the different departments.

In 1861, Texas seceded and more officers were elected under the constitution adopted. Following the war in 1866 a constitution was adopted in order to re-enter the union, but it was rejected by congress.

In 1869 a military district was set up under carpetbagger rule. The whites were disfranchised and the negroes given the ballot.

In 1876 the present constitution was adopted, and strenuous provisions were written into the document to prohibit the abuse of governmental power. Nearly all officers were made elective and the salaries written into the constitution. The hands of officials were tied. Since that time about 70 amendments have been adopted, but in recent years not more than 5% of the qualified voters take the trouble to vote upon constitutional changes. The safeguards written into the constitution in 1876 are a distinct handicap to government in 1936, stated the speaker.

President Irby Carruth announced the annual party of the American Legion in honor of the establishment of this organization to be held next Monday night; the circus of Cal Farley on Tuesday night; and an invitation was read from the Amarillo Rotary Club to the annual ladies' night next Monday night.

Visiting Rotarians were: Guy Saunders, R. E. Wertz, F. A. Zimpfer, W. S. Norman, R. S. Tisdal, Arch Hunsley, C. R. McAfee, all of Amarillo; V. V. Long of Oklahoma City; other visitors, J. N. Pond of Celina, H. Liebreich of Amarillo, F. A. DeKay of Gillette, John Pope and T. V. Slack of Canyon.

Educators

this country, the right to trial by our professional peers, we can hold up our heads as a profession, and not until this occurs will we be able to do so," he concluded.

Following Hart, Dr. Willard W. Beatty delivered an address on the subject, "Will Teachers Give Up Their Right to Teach Without a Fight?" In this address Dr. Beatty called attention to the limitations placed upon education for children of the United States through the depression years.

3,000,000 Deprived
"Approximately 3,000,000 children were deprived of the benefits of education because of the lack of funds," declared the speaker. "For the same reason, upwards of 40,000 teachers were thrown out of employment."

In regard to the barriers of policy confronting education, Dr. Beatty said, "The fundamental purpose of education is to create thinking human beings. One of the fundamental errors in education in this country is the assumption that we are to bring children to agree on all subjects. Give students the right to think for themselves."

Academic Freedom
"Academic freedom must be extended to others besides the institutions of higher education and the Hearst press. Every person has a right to his own opinion. He may either accept or reject the New Deal in part, or in its entirety; he may accept the popular opinion or abide by his own convictions in regard to the Ethiopian situation."

In the afternoon session, D. D. Jackson, professor of education, Texas Tech, Lubbock, spoke on the subject, "Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow in High School Education."

Beginning his address, the speaker reviewed the history of the high school in America and spoke briefly on the high school and the part it plays in education of today.

High School of Future

The principal part of his address was devoted to the high school of the near future. Among the things advocated or predicted for the high school in the years to come were the statements to the effect that it shall develop people into "students of national and international affairs. International concepts are gaining in importance in the thoughts of the student."

"Home management will be an important part of the curriculum," declared Jackson. "We must conceive that the building of successful homes is as much a duty of the husband as it is of the wife."

Football Will Stay
"Football," he continued, "will probably be retained in the program of the high school of tomorrow. It keeps millions of dollars of money in circulation and provides entertainment for countless people who must have some form of similar recreation." One of the most far-fetched, seemingly, of the speaker's statements was that "every classroom would be equipped with a radio receiving set."

D. M. Wiggins, president of the Texas School of Mines and Metallurgy, El Paso, spoke during the afternoon session on the subject, "Teachers for the New School."

New Names in Education
"It is difficult for us to recognize the new names in education. So much controversy is now rampant in the field of education. Children of today, as we were in the past, are not going to be interested in the pure, dry subjects which are squeezed dry of all romance and interest."

"It is not enough to train yourself in one particular field and then go back to your community which is not certain about economics of today and who will disagree with your ideas which you have learned from books. The solution of the challenges to the New School lies chiefly in the community. Education today must reach further than the influence of the little red schoolhouse. We as teachers, as advisors, and counselors, must bring this New School into reality."

Facing Propaganda
In the morning session Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Tech, discussed the subject, "The New School and Vocational Subjects." The speaker advocated the installation of vocational courses into the high schools thereby making high schools more independent of academic material taught for college entrance.

Following Knapp, Pres. Hill delivered an address concerning the rapid strides of progress made in the educational field since the fall of the Alamo.

Dr. Beatty appeared again on the afternoon program with an address, "Can Real Civic Education Avoid Controversial Issues?" In this address the speaker advocated teaching more than the mere mechanics of government and civics. "It is hard to leave personality out of the discussion of governmental topics, but that must be done to a certain extent in order to present the question clearly and in order to get the students to do some constructive thinking for themselves."

Permits Communistic Talk
"The child and adult of today is faced with organized propaganda. We have done nothing so far to teach the children that much of the information of today is dangerous. We cannot accept anybody's conclusions as final unless we previously checked them against the facts.

Controversial issues when discussed in the classrooms arouse the anger of parents and taxpayers when the conclusion is adverse to the belief which they hold."

Speakers on the program for the session Friday night were: Dr. J. C. Parker, Port Worth Public Schools; B. B. Cobb, secretary of the Texas State Teachers Association; T. H. Shelby, dean of the Extension Service of the University of Texas; D. M. Wiggins, president of the Texas School of Mines and Metallurgy, El Paso; and Dr. Frank W. Hart, University of California.

One of the most interesting features of the entire conference was a report from a questionnaire sent to the senior classes of 10,000 high schools by Dr. Frank W. Hart. Dr. Hart delivered this report in connection with the subject, "May We Have Faith in the Rising Generation."

In the final sessions of the conference Saturday morning the principal speakers were Dr. Frank W. Hart, D. M. Wiggins, and Dr. Willard W. Beatty.

Dr. Hart in discussing "The Price of Civic Complacency" said, "I am willing to see American democracy studied in comparison with any other form of government. I am that confident in the superiority of Democracy."

He declared himself in favor of the discussion of Communism and condemned institutions where students are chased off for talking Communism on the college campus.

Beatty advocated the teaching of sex in the school and providing answers to the questions in the adolescent mind.

Attendance of the conference showed a great decline Saturday as compared with that of the preceding day.

Entertainment was provided during Conference by the Buffalo Band, directed by C. E. Strain; the Perryton High School Band, directed by W. I. Byron; a choral concert by 250 high school boys and girls; members of the Physical Education Department for Women, directed by Miss Ruth Cross; and music by the College Orchestra, directed by Prof. Wallace R. Clark.
